From the Manse

Friends,

Hope to find you well! The weather has been great of late and you hopefully you have had the opportunity to enjoy some of it.

Apart from transitioning into the season of summer (even if only theoretically) we are also into the season of Pentecost in church just now. Pentecost means different things to different Christians. One way of looking at Pentecost (a way I quite fancy) is as a going away party....

It goes all the way back to the story about the building of the Tower of Babel in Genesis 11. There we find the bad news story about the arrogance of man and subsequent price thereof. At the end of the story we read that the Lord confused the languages of the earth and that people were dispersed over the face of the earth following the bungled 'Project Babel'.

Now, when Pentecost came thousands of years later this situation was addressed in a spectacular way. We read in Acts 2 that when the Holy Spirit was poured out on the believers they began to speak in different languages. After so many years the Good News was now heard in the languages of the earth. The confusion of Babel with everyone speaking in their own tongue was resolved in Pentecost.

The apostles not only spoke in the foreign tongues but began the gradual process to go out and share the wonder Good News story of Jesus Christ. Pentecost has this as a result: while everything up to that point centred on Jerusalem Jesus instructed his followers to go wider and wider to share the Story. Starting in Jerusalem they went further and further afield to witness to Jesus.

I think by now you have managed to piece this one together. Pentecost a going away party? Yes, we are called into action by Pentecost. There is a stirring up through the Holy Spirit and we are – like the first followers – prompted to tell the Story. To do it at work, where we relax, at the resort in Spain, on holiday in China, yes, even queuing for a ride at Disney or coffee at Starbucks!

May I ask something of you? When you are away – whether it is to Istanbul or Inverness, Sydney or Durham, would you care to ask friends, family and strangers about their thoughts on church, please? Maybe this one burning question: why don't you go to church? I would absolutely love to hear from you after the holidays about this. It is not without purpose. We believe that only when we understand the situation will we be able to 'translate' the Good News into the vernacular of the world outwith of the church.

If you are going away of simply taking a stay-cation over the summer, I wish you every blessing of our Father God. And as they say...'Make hay while the sun is shining'.

Jaco

Chill

Chill is back and happening again on the first Sunday of every month from 6 - 8pm. We have enjoyed activities such as indoor archery, badminton and table tennis. Although the table tennis table has seen better days!! If anyone knows of a second hand one going spare please let me know.

In May we had a mock election where Chiller's contested for the position of 'President' of Broxburn. Well done to Mia Cunningham and Hannah Turnbull who are now the supreme leaders of Broxburn for the next 5 years. Look forward to innovative new parking laws, and changes to the way we shop coming soon.

Fiona and I would really like to see more new Chillers coming along as the more we have, the more fun events we can run. If you know of any P6 to S6 young people who you think would be interested in coming then please send them along.

Prayer Corner

When we went to the polls on Thursday the 5th May to vote for our Member of Parliament for the Scottish Parliament we in the Christian church were remembering this as Ascension Day, the day Jesus returned to His Heavenly throne having completing His task on Earth.

Partings and good-byes are difficult not knowing when or if we will meet the loved one again. For the disciples on that day it was no different, for three years they had shared their lives with Jesus as they ate, slept and shared in His Earthly Ministry.

However they find solace as they looked to the skies where Jesus had ascended to hear from angels who appeared telling them that Jesus would return.

Jesus returned to His Heavenly Throne to allow God to send the Holy Spirit to be their as well as our helper today. Ten days after Jesus returned home the Holy Spirit came upon the disciples transforming them, once fearful now spoke with authority. The Christian Church was born.

We can, like the disciples take strength in the knowledge that we have a God who keeps His promises and know that Jesus will return one day to take us home to share in the Heavenly Kingdom. To experience a joy we can only have a foretaste of on Earth as we allow the Holy Spirit to lead us day by day.

As the disciples were filled with boldness and took on the commission that Jesus left them to take God's word of His love for all to the ends of the Earth, we too have a role, an important role, a life changing role to share in this spreading of God's love to our families, friends and all we come into contact with.

The Church may be seen to be in decline in this land but we know that God through His Holy Spirit is still working in folks life both here and in many other parts of the world.

God Bless

In your personal prayers please pray for

- Our minister and office bearers that God will protect and lead them and their families
- Pray for our Queen and her Government as they rule over us in these continuing difficult times, especially our MSPs in Edinburgh.
- For wisdom as we vote in the European Referendum

- For the BUSY project as they adapt to their smaller team in their work with the young folk in the community.
- For our young folk leaving school that they will find work and/or a course of further education.
- For protection of our young folks over the holiday period that they will be cared for and not left to endanger themselves or others
- That our fellowship might serve the community as Jesus did in His ministry
- For Dr Ruth Shakespeare, our Missionary Partner her work in Malawi, especially following the recent flooding.

Please contact myself and the minister for prayer.

Interview with Andrew MacPherson

by Mia Cunningham and Lois Young

Mia and Lois met with Andrew to find out more about his new role as Moderator of the National Youth Assembly, which will start in August. The questions they asked were thought up by the Mia and Lois along with Amy Corner and Hannah Turnbull at May's Chill.

Lois- Did you volunteer to become the Moderator of the National Youth Assembly (NYA) or did people vote for you?

Andrew – It started with other people nominating me and saying why they thought I would make a good Moderator. I accepted the nomination and gave my own reasons why I thought I would be good for the role. 18 representatives from the NYA then voted for the different candidates, before it was referred to past NYA Moderators and clerks, then finally going on to the Mission and Discipleship Council.

Mia- Did you have to put together a manifesto like politicians do, and if you did what promises did you make?

Andrew – No I didn't have to write a manifesto, but what I did have to do was write down what skills I have would be useful and what qualities I would bring to the role.

Lois – How did you feel when you found out that you'd been successful?

Andrew – Mostly excited, but a bit nervous as it's an important task. It was tough too though because some of my friends had also been nominated but had been unsuccessful.

Mia – Did you have to keep it a secret when you first found out?

Andrew – Yes, I couldn't tell anyone for three whole weeks! It was like when you buy someone a really good present, which you're sure they'll love but you can't tell them because it would spoil the surprise.

Lois – What will be your main jobs as Moderator?

Andrew – My main task will be to moderate or lead the NYA when it meets over a weekend from 19th - 22nd August 2016, oversee discussions and make sure that the weekend runs smoothly. There will be 18 representatives elected from the NYA, and I will be in charge of the group of representatives and will be responsible for taking forward the decisions reached. Our three topics will be Gender Justice in Scotland and the rest of the world; Mental Health, especially in young people, and the future of Ministry and Fresh Expressions. In May 2017, I'll have to represent the NYA at the General Assembly and present a report which might be filmed for tv as well as being broadcast live online on the Church of Scotland website.

Mia – Will you have to wear any special clothes?

Andrew – No. The Moderator of the General Assembly has special gowns, a ring and chains to wear, but not the Moderator of the NYA.

Lois- What are you most excited about?

Andrew- Probably the Youth Assembly weekend in August. I'm sure there'll be all sorts of interesting opinions and ideas come out of that weekend which will shape our thinking on our programmes.

Mia- What are you most nervous about?

Andrew - Reporting to the General Assembly next May on behalf of the NYA. I will have to give my presentation in front of as many as 800 people. There will be then be questions from the delegates which I'll have to answer.

Mia - What will you do if you don't know the answers?

Andrew - There will be five other delegates on the platform to support me who will also know lots about the report topics, so they can help out too with the answers.

Lois - Will it be a full time job being Moderator or will you still have your job at the bank?

Andrew – I'll still have my job at the bank, but I'll have the Clerk to the NYA, Lyndsay Kennedy to help me too.

Mia- Will you get to travel to different countries?

Andrew – Yes, but I don't know where to yet. I've already received an invitation to an event in Germany, and last year's Youth Moderator went along with Moderator of the General Assembly on a trip to Egypt. I'll have to wait and see.

Lois - Can we use Social Media to find out what's happening in the NYA and to see what you're doing as Moderator after August?

Andrew - Yes. The Youth Moderator has their own Twitter account, with the handle @NYA Moderator and there's a NYA Facebook page called National Youth Assembly.

Mia and Lois - Thank you Andrew for your time. Can we come back and ask you some more questions in a few months time?

Andrew - Of course. It's been fun.

Wee JAM Band

From the feedback the band has received, both on the night and in the days following, this event seems to have been a great success. As well as the band members having a great time they raised £302.11 (not quite sure how we managed the 11p!) for church funds. It is hard to believe that despite many rehearsals the entertainment evening was only the 3rd time the entire band had played together.

The band was born out of the group that played on the float for the Christmas Torchlight Procession. Everyone had such a good time rehearsing for this that the idea of continuing to play and to entertain an audience, while at the same time using the youngster's talents, to raise money and to make them aware of the responsibility for stewardship seem like a good way forward. The band members practiced hard from early January and we had a lot of fun enjoying pizza lunches and takeaway teas together.

The band was gracious with regards to my lack of conducting skills with Fraser and Lucas being generous and kind in both their advice and instruction. I'm not sure how much I learned from them but we certainly managed to stay in time through each piece. So far all of the feedback has been extremely positive giving these young people a sense of achievement, belonging and purpose. Thank you to all of you who attended and who took the time to speak to the band members and praise their achievement. It is all very well me telling them they played well but to have so many of you speak to them and pass comment far surpassed any praise I could give them. It was great to have people from other churches comment on how nice it was that we had young people willing to participate in the life of our church. The band members were all extremely excited about the event before we started and they were all on a real high by the time we finished.

The night before the entertainment evening one of the parents asked if I was nervous. I was not for myself but for the youngsters, what would happen if one of the solos went wrong and if so, would they be upset? The adrenalin and the pressure of performance must have had a positive effect as the solos were better than they have ever been in practice and the only hiccup came from our technology when the CD stuck during Fraser's rendition of Everything I do, I do it for you. Like a true professional he took it in his stride and had no problems 2nd time round when the CD had been cleaned and replayed twice to check it.

Thank you to everyone who attended, thank you to the band for all the hard work and dedication, and to the parents who put up with constant emails as we tried to schedule rehearsals. Thanks also go to all who helped with teas, ticket collection, sound system etc. to make the night a success. We'd only just finished when the youngsters were talking about next time. So if you missed this entertainment evening there may be more to come and if there is hopefully you will be able to attend.

This term in the BUSY Project we've been just that: busy! Over the Easter Holidays we put on our first MasterChef night, with young people cooking up a storm! The Dessert Team won the night by a landslide, with the Chef's winning cinema vouchers.

We are just wrapping up the term, finishing strong with, on average, seven weekly youth groups, each meeting a different need in the community. We're near the end of our successful first year with our new group Pizza Tuesdays in the Academy serving free lunch to 26 teens each week! Kids from this group have been coming along to other groups, and are making new friends and thinking deep thoughts about God and life and everything!

Not two weeks ago I found a group of out 14-16 year old lads crouched around a table in intense discussion; when I probed them I found out that they were debating feminism and the wage-gap! So we made it a whole session the following week, we ate sausages and shared ideas. It was amazing!

Coming up we're taking some of our 6th year girls into Edinburgh to have a look at some churches so they know what is around when they get to University. We're currently supporting kids through exams, getting letters out so we can take them to camp, and we're in the beginning stages of planning our Summer Buzz!

Do pray for us, or drop us an email if you'd like to help. Or if you have teenagers, do direct them to our Website and Facebook page so they can know what is on! Remember P7 are also welcome, not just high-schoolers!

Hannah

Dear friends,

The BB 2015 / 16 session is all but over. A few highlights from the year include our Autumn camp at The Compass

Christian Outdoor Centre and oh did it rain that weekend. We narrowly failed to win the Battalion Badminton Company section Trophy we will prevail next session I am sure. We went to the Panto again with the GB, Oh yes we did! We also returned to the East Links Farm Park with the younger boys, what a laugh once again.

As always we have had Monday night after Monday night of electronics – Crystal Radios, games, challenges and discussions about the Bible, using the ones the Gideons gifted to us. We have had lots of sports including badminton, hockey, dodgeball, and football.

We have of course had Christian teaching and although we did not win any battalion trophies, again, for doing so, we all learned something about Jesus' ministry. We were asked the question "How would you describe the Feeding of the 5000 in today's terms"?

We used the Food Bank as a current example. How would you answer?

By the time you read this we will have had our Annual Display on the 16th May and our annual camp, this year we are going to the Meggernie Outdoor centre in Glen Lyon. We are going in May rather than September in the hope of better weather.

Looking ahead, we restart on Monday 29th August.

Some happy Anchor Boys (and one Junior) on top of the hay bales at the Farm Park

Have a good summer

God bless.

Meditation by Jim Anderson

Reading: John 9 v1-3 As Jesus passed by, he saw a man blind from birth. And his disciples asked him "Rabbi, who sinned, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?" Jesus answered "It was not that this man sinned, or his parents, but that the works of God might be displayed in him.

When I was a young man, just left school, I went to New Trinity Centre; a work centre for people with disabilities. We had all sorts of activities from work-based tasks to hobbies and sports. One of these activities was a discussion group which those of us who had something to say were encouraged to attend. We never knew beforehand what the topic would be and subjects ranged far and wide. One day the meeting was led by one of the members of staff and a local Baptist minister. In the discussion this man put across that all disabilities come from sin and all disabled people are bad people. I was very upset at that and I took myself out of the group and never went back. Granted there is the same range of people good and bad, nice and nasty in the disabled population as in the able-bodied but to say all disability is a punishment for evil was a bridge too far! Please remember that inside everybody there is a personality, a soul if you will, with the same needs, feelings and ambitions regardless of whether the body works properly or not.

You see, I grew up through Sunday School and the BBs knowing that Jesus loves me and is my friend, accepting me as I am. I understand that all of us are sinners and less than perfect in all our dealings with others, but cannot accept that all our disabilities are the result of sin. Lots of disabled people, and their parents, blame themselves for their disabilities and sometimes this can be true if a disability is acquired through some irresponsible action or accident of their own. But there must be a purpose for those of us disabled from birth. We are just meant to be. I feel sorry for people who cannot accept their position and for parents who cannot accept their disabled child, and who find their family unit broken because of it. If only some parents had the knowledge of the bible passage we read at the start a lot of these difficulties would never crop up. I have carried the hurt of what that Baptist minister said so long ago, for the rest of my life. I haven't thought about it constantly but it was always in the background and in low moments it would come flooding back. Over the years I've spoken to different people about it but never got any answer to which I could

Until this year, that is!

I had been at the Advent Bible Studies and Revelations from Revelation and enjoyed the learning process so when Jaco announced that there would be a Lent Bible study I was up for it again. We were looking at Jesus' words from the cross. On the very first night we were discussing "Forgive them, Father, they don't know what they're doing" The question was asked; who are the "them" that Jesus was asking forgiveness for? It was put forward that the "them" is all of us and Jesus offers this forgiveness to everyone if they can only acknowledge their sinfulness. Then the question of disability being the result of sin reared its ugly head again. I posed the question to the group and Jaco led us to that passage in John's gospel; that was a lightbulb moment for me and I got very excited and felt I had to share it with you folks at a Wednesday service, because a lot of you have known me for a long time. You see, it has taken 53 years for me to realise what this passage says, and what my mother has told me for years; that I was put on this earth for a reason. No one had ever been able to answer my concerns; but that night at the Bible Study was obviously God's timing and the right time for light to dawn. I know that I am not perfect; no one is except the Son of God but he loves each one of us equally, died for each one of us equally and forgives each one of us equally. Without my disability I wouldn't have had such a full life. I wouldn't have met the interesting people I have met. I might not have done anything special with my life. My situation is nobody's fault. It's God's purpose and he has a purpose for each and every one of us. Praise Him!

Amen

We had a very successful visit to Belarus from 17th to 24th March. We visited all 12 of the children in our September group and the 5 new children who will come in June. We took them food from the charity, letters from their host families and of course lots of love. We were made very welcome by all of them.

It was great to hear from the children and their families how much last years first visit to Scotland had meant to them. We were told by all of them that the children had come home and were talking about different parts of the visit for weeks, they were so excited about it and had such a great time. The families were also very grateful for all of the things that we sent home to them. The five new children, Ksusha, Maksim, Sergei, Lera and Sasha who will come in June for the first time are very excited to be coming to Scotland. They are so small and vulnerable and we look forward to taking good care of them and giving them a wonderful time in Scotland as well as boosting their health and outlook.

On our trip we also had our biggest get together of children at the 10 pin bowling in the city of Mogilev for a rare day out. We bussed all of the September children and some parent helpers from the villages in Bykhov region and bussed the June group children and parent helpers from Cherikof region. It was so nice to see all of the children in the 3 groups who will come to Scotland this year, get together and eat and have fun playing together.

Its now 30 years since the Chernobyl disaster happened on 26th April 1986. Its not an anniversary for us to celebrate but we marked it with dignity and empathy for those who are left with the consequences of its aftermath and we will continue to do what we can to help.

The June group children will be with us again from 28th May to 25th June and will be based in our halls every weekday during that period. If you see them then please say hello and give them a smile and hopefully most of them will be able to say hello back to you.

Dates for your diary – Wednesday 15th June at mid-day please join us for a service in the church and a soup lunch afterwards. The children will sing some songs during the short service. Then on Wednesday 22nd June at 6.30 please join us in the church for the childrens thank you concert. It's the childrens special way of saying thank you to everyone who has been involved in any way during the visit. They will sing songs, act out fairytales and do dances to entertain us and everyone is very welcome.

Easter Mission

The theme for this year's Easter Mission was Guardians of Ancora, a fictional location with guardians who were searching for story treasures and a Saga made up of various books. The stories were mainly from Luke's Gospel and covered Jesus choosing the fisherman, Jesus healing Jairus' daughter, the woman in the crowd, the Roman Officer's Servant and the man who came through the roof, and the feeding the 5000. The stories were taught through DVD, drama, craft, games and workbooks and I understand that there were a number of interesting conversations in the group discussions.

55 different children attended the week with around 45 attending each day. We see the same children coming back year after year so it seems that they enjoy the activities of the week. The same volunteers also come back year after year suggesting that they too enjoy the week. We had a few new volunteers this year who quickly learned the ropes and fit right into the team. This is a tribute to the friendliness and welcoming nature of our congregation. There is always a real buzz about the week and it's great to see different generations working together with the same purpose – to pass on the good news about God's love for us.

Many people might see the purpose of Easter Mission to teach primary children, many of whom do not attend any church or other Christian activity, about God. However, it seems to me that while that might be its main purpose there is much more to it than that. We have a group of young helpers who work hard during the week, Easter Mission allows them to pass on their Christian experience, to have a sense of purpose within the church and to learn from the older more experienced volunteers. And it allows the more experience volunteers to pass on their wealth of knowledge, experience and faith as well as to appreciate the abilities and enthusiasm of the younger helpers.

I would like to thank all the volunteers for their support throughout the week and for the hard work they put in. The number of young helpers who have grown up with Easter

Mission and who this year seem to have changed from children to adults allowed us to clear the halls and church in the quickest time ever – or perhaps it was just the fact that they had organised to go out for lunch afterwards as a group! We were all wrapped up by 12:35.

I would also like to thank all who made donations to Easter Mission, this is greatly appreciated. Thanks must also go to Lidl who once again supplied all of the fruit for snack time.

Treasurer's Update

We're one-third of the way through 2016 already and we've seen some changes take place in our fundraising activities. Instead of holding all soup lunches to raise monies for charities, the Board agreed to hold some for Church funds instead. This coupled with a fairer share of coffee bars also raising money for Church funds has meant we've raised twice as much for our own charity (£1,030) as over the same period last year. We are continuing to raise money for other charities too, and by the end of April we'd raised over £2,300 via a combination of soup lunches, retiring offerings, coffee bars and Sunday teas.

Our total income year to date is £25,583.68 (of which £2,321.66 has been raised for other charities). Our total expenditure year to date is £27,152.48 (of which £3,954.95 has been passed on to other charities, including three monthly donations to BUSY).

Although our expenditure is higher than our income, the deficit is lower than we had anticipated.

Now that we are in a new tax year, an important change to the Small Donations Scheme (SDS) takes effect. This is the scheme that allows us to claim tax relief on small donations (amounts up to £20), given anonymously. Our open plate donations fit naturally into this description and we have claimed tax relief on amounts given (excluding any higher denomination notes and cheques) up to the previous limit of £5,000. This has brought in an extra £1,250 income from the tax office since the scheme was introduced. From 6th April the SDS limit has been increased to £8,000. This could allow us to claim an extra £2,000 income from the tax office, if our open plate donations reach this new limit. Our second tax reclaim for 2016 has been made and should be paid by HMRC in the next month. We're expecting over £2,400 tax reclaimed on contributions gift-aided for the first quarter of 2016 and £1,250 for the SDS scheme for the tax year ending 05/04/16! This is always a welcome boost to our coffers. If you are a tax-payer and are interested in making contributions via gift aid (either via standing order or via the weekly pink envelopes) please speak to Jean Weir. If you have some extra change in your pocket on a Sunday, you can help us increase our open plate donations and allow us to claim an increased amount from HMRC under the new SDS scheme, whether a tax-payer or not.

Crèche

We are pleased to say that a crèche is now available on Sundays during morning worship. This will be held in the Session room and will be supervised by 2 adults who have been PVG registered. Should you wish to bring your child along there are also baby changing facilities and high chairs. If you want to discuss any issues relating to the crèche please speak to either Elaine Brown or Fiona Devlin.

Bridge Choir

The choir have been rehearsing hard for their upcoming concerts. If you haven't got your tickets yet please see any member of the choir. You are certain to be well entertained. Especially as the Junior choir will guest this year again and their pieces are shaping up very well again, as you would expect!

The concerts are on Thursday 2nd and Friday 3rd June at 7.30pm. Ticket prices are £7 for adults and £4 for children.

Thank you to those who have already volunteered to help out on one of the nights. We really appreciate your assistance. If anyone else would like to assist serving teas/coffees, clearing up after the break please see one of the committee. We couldn't do it without you.
